Additional Information: See the UL Online Certifications Directory at www.ul.com/database for additional information.

Only those products bearing the UL Component Recognition Mark for the U.S. and Canada should be considered as being covered by UL's Component Recognition and Follow-Up Service and meeting the appropriate U.S. and Canadian requirements as well as UL's EU Mark Service and Factory Inspection requirements for Europe as applicable.

The UL Recognized Component Mark for the U.S. generally consists of the manufacturer's identification and catalog number, model number or other product designation as specified under "Marking" for the particular Recognition as published in the appropriate UL Directory. As a supplementary means of identifying products that have been produced under UL's Component Recognition Program, UL's Recognized Component Mark: , may be used in conjunction with the required Recognized Marks. The Recognized Component Mark is required when specified in the UL Directory preceding the recognitions or under "Markings" for the individual recognitions. The UL Recognized Component Mark for Canada consists of the UL Recognized Mark for Canada:  and the manufacturer's identification and catalog number, model number or other product designation as specified under "Marking" for the particular Recognition as published in the appropriate UL Directory.

Recognized components are incomplete in certain constructional features or restricted in performance capabilities and are intended for use as components of complete equipment submitted for investigation rather than for direct separate installation in the field. The final acceptance of the component is dependent upon its installation and use in complete equipment submitted to UL LLC.

Look for the above referenced UL Certification Mark(s) on the product.

This is to certify that representative samples of the product as specified on this certificate were tested according to the current UL requirements.
